Information includes the time, date and location of training, the resources the student should bring to the course and overview of the units of competency to be studied and the format / style of training to be provided. For some courses, students are asked to complete a pre-course evaluation checklist. Questions on this checklist are intended to gain more information regarding the needs of the student. Asset Training Australia's staff will evaluate the information submitted in the checklist and either make necessary changes to meet the student's needs or have a discussion with the student regarding his / her needs.

Access and Equity

Asset Training Australia is committed to ensuring that training opportunities are offered to all people on an equal and fair basis. Including women where under-represented, people with disabilities, people from non-English speaking backgrounds, Indigenous Australians, and rural and remote clients. All clients have equal access to our training programs irrespective of their gender, culture, linguistic background, race, socio-economic background; disability, age, marital status, pregnancy, sexual orientation or carer's responsibilities.

Our staff are trained in inclusive training and assessment practices. In the event that students feel they are being disadvantaged they should approach the trainer/assessor or another staff member to raise their concerns.

All students with Asset Training Australia have the right to discuss matters of access and equity with the relevant members of staff without making a formal complaint; all discussions are dealt with in confidentiality. The right to lodge a formal complaint is available and will be actioned according to Asset Training Australia's policy and procedures.

Language, Literacy and Numeracy

Asset Training Australia's course information, training and assessment materials contain written documentation and limited numerical calculations.

We recognise that not all people are able to read, write and perform calculations to the same standards. When an issue is identified, a Language, Literacy and Numeracy (LLN) assessment will be provided to the student in question. This may be in the form of verbal or written questioning.

We will endeavour to provide assistance to students having difficulty with language, literacy or numeracy to accommodate their needs. In the event that a student's needs exceed the ability of Asset Training Australia's staff to assist, the student will be referred to an external support agency so they have the opportunity to obtain the skills required to complete the training program. In the event that a student is experiencing personal difficulties, training staff will encourage the student to contact Asset Training Australia who will provide discreet, personalised and confidential assistance as according to the nature of the difficulties. In the event that a student's needs exceed the capacity of the support services Asset Training Australia can offer, they will be referred to an appropriate external agency. Extensive information regarding support agencies, resources and services may be sourced online. Asset Training Australia's staff members will assist students to source appropriate support.

Flexible delivery and assessment procedures

Asset Training Australia recognises that some people are better suited to learning via teaching methods not usually obtained in the traditional classroom setting. With some minor adjustments to teaching and assessment methods, a student who is experiencing difficulty learning and achieving the desired results in the traditional setting may show considerable improvements.

The staff and management of Asset Training Australia respect these differences among students and will endeavour to make any necessary adjustments to their methods in order to meet the needs of a variety of students. For example, the inability to complete a written assessment will not be interpreted as a sign of incompetence, provided the student can verbally demonstrate competency.

Acceptable adjustments to training and assessment methods may include but are not limited to; having a trainer read assessment materials to students, having a student's spoken responses to assessment questions recorded or allowing a student to sit for an assessment alone in a different room. Asset Training Australia's staff will pursue any reasonable means within their ability to assist students in achieving the required competency standards. In the event that a student's needs exceed the capacity of the support services Asset Training Australia can offer, they will be referred to an appropriate external agency.

Reasonable adjustment

Reasonable adjustment means adjustments that can be made to the way in which evidence of student performance can be collected. Whilst reasonable adjustments can be made in terms of the way in which evidence of performance is gathered, the evidence criteria for making competent / not yet competent decisions will not be altered in any way. That is, the standards expected should be the same irrespective of the group and / or individual being assessed; otherwise comparability of standards will be compromised.

Student Portal

Asset Training Australia has three online portals where students can access additional resources, complete training and assessment, submit assessments, submit RPL evidence and communicate with their trainer/assessor. The portals are:

- Student Portal
- eLearning Portal
- Microsoft IT Academy Portal

The Student Portals can be accessed from www.asset.edu.au/login

All students will receive access to the student portal upon enrolment. An automatically generated email will be sent to the student when they first enrol. If this email is not received (or if the student is a returning customer and has not previously had access to the Student Portal) students can contact Asset Training Australia to register or reset their account.

Access to the eLearning Portal and Microsoft IT Academy Portal is restricted to students who require these portals for completion of their qualification. Details about access to these portals will be provided in the Confirmation of Enrolment letter where applicable.

RECOGNITION OF PRIOR LEARNING

Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) means recognition of competencies currently held, regardless of how, when or where the learning occurred. These competencies may be attained through any combination of formal or informal training and education, work experience or general life experience. In order to grant RPL, the assessor must be confident that the student is currently competent against the endorsed industry or enterprise competency standards or outcomes specified in Australian Qualifications Framework accredited courses. The evidence may take a variety of forms and could include certification, references from past employers, testimonials from clients and work samples. The assessor must ensure that the evidence is authentic, valid, reliable, current and sufficient.

Asset Training Australia appreciates the value of workplace and industry experience, and recognises that students will acquire vocational skills and knowledge from a variety of sources other than formal training. These skills are legitimate irrespective of how they were acquired and the RPL process is designed to provide validation of such relevant skills.

Qualifications from Other RTO's

Asset Training Australia will recognise all AQF qualifications and statements of attainment issued by any other RTO. If any ambiguity is detected when validating a student's certification, Asset Training Australia will seek verification from the relevant RTO before recognising the qualification or statement of attainment.

Credit Transfer

Credit transfer refers to the transferral of academic credit obtained by students through participation in courses or national training package qualifications either with Asset Training Australia or with other RTOs, towards a qualification offered by Asset Training Australia. Credit transfer is granted on the basis that the credit validates the student's competency within the relevant qualification / unit of competence. Credit transfer of a qualification / unit of competence is available to students enrolling in most training programs offered by Asset Training Australia.

RPL Process

RPL is an assessment process that assesses an individual's formal, non-formal and informal learning to determine the extent to which that individual has achieved the required learning outcomes, competency outcomes, or standards for entry to, and / or partial or total completion of a VET qualification. The RPL process will be offered to and explained to all relevant students.

Students who believe they have already obtained current skills and knowledge that would otherwise be covered in the qualification / unit of competence for which they intend to attain, can apply for RPL at the time of enrolment. The student's skills and knowledge will be assessed and validated, and where appropriate, units of competency acknowledged, and face-to-face training reduced.

As part of the Asset Training Australia's enrolment policy, staff will advise students of the availability of RPL, explain what the process involves and how it relates to the attainment of the qualification in some circumstances. Staff will remind students of this option progressively throughout their time in training, in order to provide multiple opportunities for students to engage in the RPL process.

When approached by a student seeking RPL, staff will refer the student to one of Asset Training Australia's RPL Assessors who will conduct an initial RPL interview and explain the remainder of the RPL process specific to that student's needs. There is no cost to the student or obligation to commit to the RPL process from the initial RPL interview.

RPL Limitations

The RPL process has some limitations that may prevent Asset Training Australia from offering an RPL pathway for some students. Some of these limitations include:

- Training Programs with Industry Licensing outcomes generally require that licence applicants receive their qualifications through a formal training and assessment process. Applicants may not be eligible for a licence if they follow an RPL or Credit Transfer pathway. Examples include Security Industry Licensing and Traffic Management Industry Licensing.
- High Risk Training Programs such as firearms training have been identified by Asset Training Australia as too high risk for an RPL or Credit Transfer process to be utilised. Due to the nature of high risk training and perishability of skills, an RPL or Credit Transfer process will not be able to sufficiently or reliably substantiate a student's current competency.

TRAINING AND ASSESSMENT

Asset Training Australia is committed to delivering high quality training and assessment services that exceed the expectations of their student. To ensure this, Asset Training Australia has implemented processes for data collection and analysis within its operations that ensure the continuous improvement of training and assessment. Continuous improvement measures in this area respond to the results of data analysis and involve all internal and external stakeholder groups.

The quality and continuous improvement policy defines the methods of data collection and analysis. In order to provide high quality outcomes to their clients and students, Asset Training Australia ensures that strategies for training and assessment are developed with effective consultation with industry and stakeholders.

Principles of Training and Assessment

Training and assessment strategies developed by Asset Training Australia will adhere to the following principles:

- Training and assessment strategies are developed for each qualification, accredited course or unit of competency that will be delivered and assessed
- Each training and assessment strategy will be developed in consultation with industry representatives, trainers, assessors and key stakeholders
- Training and assessment strategies will reflect the requirements of the relevant training package and will identify target groups
- Training and assessment strategies will be validated annually through the internal review procedures

Asset Training Australia will apply the Principles of Assessment and the Rules of Evidence.
